Course Description
This beginning level language course is designed to prepare students for the daily social demands of living in China and to provide access to the host culture. Students are thus enabled to enrich all aspects of their experience abroad by functioning in Chinese during field methods exercises, while conducting fieldwork for the Independent Study Project, and when interacting with homestay families and local contacts.

In this course, students develop basic Chinese communicative skills in speaking, listening, reading and writing, with more focus on speaking and listening. Moreover, the course will integrate Chinese culture to promote students’ cross-cultural awareness and understanding. Due to the great differences between Chinese and English, students will also be introduced to strategies and skills in learning Chinese as a foreign language.

Classes and field-based language activities are taught by experienced, professionally trained, native-speaking teachers of a foreign language using oral proficiency-based methods. Students are placed into the language course based on an in-country, oral proficiency interview. These placements may not directly correspond to the student’s level at the home institution as SIT courses focus on communicative competence and linguistic functional ability.

Beginning Chinese has an interdisciplinary and experiential focus, encompassing 90 class hours (6 credits). This course’s five main objectives are: (1) to develop basic communication skills in Chinese language through formal instruction and cultural involvement; (2) to provide a grammatical foundation and facilitate language use, with special emphasis on pronunciation, correct syntax, and verbal expression; (3) to develop a basic level of proficiency in reading and writing formal Chinese; (4) to examine extra-linguistic and paralinguistic features of language use; and (5) to develop culturally appropriate language skills.

Language Levels and Placement
Students are placed into appropriate language course levels based on oral proficiency interviews conducted during orientation in Chinese.

Learning Outcomes
Upon completion of the course, students will be able to:

PLEASE NOTE: This syllabus represents a recent semester. Because courses develop and change over time to take advantage of unique learning opportunities, actual course content varies from semester to semester.

Course Requirements
Reinforcement exercises, both oral and written, are assigned. On average, students are required to complete homework nightly. Class attendance is also required; preparation and participation are highly emphasized. Active engagement and meaningful involvement in class activities are expected. Students should complete their assignments individually, on time, and with full effort. A late assignment may result in a lower grade.

Required Texts
The textbook used for this course is Boya Chinese, Elementary Starter I & II, (Li Xiaoqi, Beijing University Publishing House, 2004). Li Xiaoqi’s communicative and structurally-based approach is well-suited to the needs of foreign students living in a Chinese-speaking environment wishing to acquire a solid foundation of Chinese grammar. In addition, a computer software program for practicing Chinese characters will be provided to students.

Evaluation and Grading Criteria
Instructors evaluate student performance based on observation, written exercises, and exams given throughout the course. Final grades are assigned by the Academic Director in consultation with the language instructors on the basis of the instructors’ evaluations, the students’ own self-evaluation, and the Academic Director’s observations of the students’ participation in classes and their efforts to use the language outside of the classroom.

ACTFL oral proficiency interviews are conducted toward the end of the semester to provide a measurement of students’ overall linguistic progress. Thus, course grades provide an assessment of students’ performance in meeting the requirements of the language class while ACTFL scores provide an assessment of students' linguistic competence in the host language.

Grades are assigned by the language instructors based on the following evaluation criteria:

Daily Quizzes/Written Homework/Oral Work
A brief quiz (approximately 10 minutes) will be held daily. The quiz will cover recent grammar, phrases and vocabulary terms. Daily written homework assignments reinforce the material taught through classroom drills.

Mid-term Oral and Written Examinations: (averaged together)
The oral exam will be conducted one-on-one with a language instructor. The written exam will be a comprehensive test covering grammar, sentence structure and vocabulary.

Final Oral and Written Examinations: (averaged together)
A group of language teachers will evaluate each student’s oral proficiency level. The written exam will be a comprehensive test covering grammar, sentence structure and vocabulary.

Assessment
The final grade is determined as follows:

Daily Quizzes/Written Homework/Oral Work

Mid-term Oral and Written Examinations

Final Oral and Written Examinations

Grading Scale: The grading scale for all classes is as follows:

Grading Criteria
An “A” grade for an assignment entails superior (not just “very good”) performance in terms of structure and organization of assignments, analysis, logical argumentation and consistency, and the provision of factual, numerical and/or historical evidence. In terms of class participation, an “A” grade refers to full attendance, punctuality, attentive listening and active engagement in all academic seminar lectures, discussions, field trips and other activities. It also means polite and respectful behavior. The level, frequency, and quality of student participation will be monitored and taken into account.

Student Expectations and Policies

Class Participation
Participation in class refers to attendance, punctuality, attentive listening and active engagement in all lectures, discussions, educational excursions, assignments and other activities. It also means polite and respectful behavior. An absent student is responsible for contacting the instructor, the tutor, and/or fellow students to be prepared for the assignments s/he missed and the ones scheduled for the next class.

Show up prepared
Be on time, have your assignments completed and points in mind for clarification. Complying with these elements raises the level of class discussion for everyone.

Have assignments completed on schedule, and done according to the specified requirements
This will help ensure that your assignments are returned in a timely manner.

Ask questions in class- Engage the lecturer
Teachers are highly respected in China. Your polite and engaged behavior is expected.

Comply with academic integrity policies
No plagiarism or cheating (nothing unethical)

Respect differences of opinion (classmates’, teachers’)
You are not expected to agree with everything you hear, but you are expected to listen across difference and consider other perspectives with respect.

Please refer to the SIT Study Abroad Student Handbook for policies on academic integrity, ethics, warning and probation, diversity and disability, sexual harassment and the academic appeals process.
