SIT Study Abroad Program

Serbia, Bosnia, and Kosovo: Peace and Conflict Studies in the Balkans

PLEASE NOTE: This syllabus represents a recent semester. Because courses develop and change over time to take advantage of unique learning opportunities, actual course content varies from semester to semester.

Description

This seminar consists of a four-week internship with a local NGO, research organization, business, or international NGO. The aim of an internship is to enable students to gain valuable learning experience and enhance their skills in an international professional environment. An internship is part of the student’s experiential learning on the program and is in no way a paid-for activity.

SIT has a long and on-going cooperation with local civil society organizations in Serbia, Kosovo, and Bosnia-Herzegovina. Following participation in the semester seminars and RME classes, each student will be assigned to an organization from the organizations identified by the academic director of the program. Regular reflection and assessment meetings are held with the academic director or internship coordinator to review the progress of the internship and learning associated with the internship experience. The student is responsible for submitting a signed learning agreement which outlines the learning objectives, activities, and deliverables of their internship experience.

Students complete an internship and submit a focus project paper in which they process their learning experience on the internship, analyze an issue important to the organization, and/or design a socially responsible solution to a problem identified by the organization. Approved in advance by the Academic Director, SIT’s Local Review Board (for ethical clearance purposes), and the internship supervisor, the internship focus project may involve interviews and other data collection methods relevant to achieving internship learning goals. The paper and final presentation reveal how those goals are linked to the SIT program theme of sustainability and its Critical Global Issue focus and how the student intends to apply these skills and knowledge upon return to the United States. The paper should also document a comprehensive schedule and the specific skills and knowledge acquired through the experience. A focus will be on linking internship learning with the program’s Critical Global Issue focus and overall program theme and with focus on societies in transition and post-conflict transformation issues in the Balkans.

Learning Outcomes
The Internship course comprises 4 credits and 120 hours. Upon completion of the course, students will be able to:

- Demonstrate awareness of the ethics of internship in the context of Serbia, Bosnia-Herzegovina, and/or Kosovo;
- Present, analyze, and synthesize their learning experience in the internship in the form of an internship paper;
- Articulate the output of the internship experience in the form of an oral presentation;
- Show understanding of the role of civil society in countries in transition and post-conflict transformation processes, including dealing with the past and EU accession;
- Assess the challenges of societies in transition, democracy strengthening, and civil society in Serbia, Bosnia-Herzegovina or Kosovo;
- Gain meaningful and practical professional experience in their chosen field.

Language of Instruction
This course is taught in English but students will be exposed to vocabulary related to the internship through a wide range of venues and regional locales prior to the start of the internship.

Module 2: Internship Final Paper and Presentation Design and Content
This module focuses on the design and mechanics of the internship final paper. The module covers the final paper's structural design, organization, and guidelines for effective self-reflection on the internship experience and appraisal of acquired professional experience.

Session 1: Description of the Host Institution
This session focuses on the general guidelines for the description of the host institution. The session walks the student through samples of a brief description (one page) of the host institution for the internship, possible academic literature available about the organization and its work, the nature of the services offered, and a profile of the customers who use them. The session also highlights the importance of including brochures or collateral material that further describes the institution.

Session 2: Description of Tasks Performed on the Internship
This session provides guidelines for effective ways of describing tasks performed on the internship. The session covers the importance of third-person narration (as if the student, acting as a manager, were writing it for a new employee/associate), outline form (except for the internship summary section), and headings for each of the sessions. A suggested outline for this description includes:

- Internship title and place of employment;
- Internship summary—narrative summary of the activities of the position;
- Qualifications—education and experience required and/or desirable;
- Internship conditions—uniform requirements, physical surroundings, internship work days, hours, etc.;
- Internship relationships—who is the mentor and to whom does the student report;
- Specific duties and responsibilities—a list should be provided to indicate all duties; performed by the individual in this position.

Session 3: Output of the Internship Experience
This session focuses on output of the internship experience, which may include a proposal for a strategic response to an existing problem, a creation of a sustainable plan, a grant proposal, or research that responds to the need of an organization that links back to the program theme and the critical global issue Peace | Human Rights | Social Movements.

Session 4: Personal Assessment of the Internship Performance
This session provides guidelines for an assessment of the key learning milestones acquired on the internship experience, the challenges faced, and the possible impact of the experience on the student’s academic and professional career. The session also covers a reflection on the internship experience, including the output of the internship (addressed in Session 3), as it relates to the critical global issue central to the program theme.

Session 5: Oral Presentation of the Internship Final Paper
This module focuses on the mechanics and guidelines for the presentation of the internship final paper. The presentation should take 20 minutes and students are encouraged to use audiovisual aid/handouts to facilitate their presentations.

Session content includes:

- Presenting a brief overview of the internship experience;
- Communicating assigned responsibilities and tasks performed;
- Articulating major output of the experience;
- Providing personal assessment of the internship performance.

Module 3: Processing and Maximizing the Internship Experience
This module takes place at the end of the Internship experience and focuses on ways of processing and articulating the internship as well as equipping students with practical tips and strategies for making the most of the experience personally, academically, and professionally.

Session 1: Talking About the Internship Experience
This session allows students to reflect on the internship experience and process the learning that occurred in a safe and supportive context. The internship may have been a different experience than expected, may challenge the student’s expectations of interning in a diverse and challenging environment, and may change the student’s perspective of life projects or professional goals. The module discusses ways of acknowledging both the successes and failures of the internship, of completing tasks, handing over projects to and sharing insights with colleagues on the internship, and setting realistic goals for the future.

Session content includes:

- Processing the end of the internship experience;
- Closure with colleagues and supervisors;
- Articulating the experience and setting plans for the future.

Session 2: How to Include Your Internship on Your Résumé
During this session, students will learn appropriate ways of including their internship on their résumés and in online professional platforms such as LinkedIn.

Session 3: Next Steps
This final session occurs in the final week of the program, as students plan their next steps, academically and professionally. Students discuss fears and strategies for building on this experience in other professional settings, opportunities for professional growth, and how to make optimal use of the internship experience. They will discuss ways to describe the experience gained and skills learned in their internship in cover letters and how to use this experience for future professional growth.

Ethics

The internship experience must reflect SIT’s ethics policy and commitment to the values of reciprocity. The student intern should also abide by the policy and regulations of the host institution including dress, punctuality, and employee behavior. Violations of SIT’s code of conduct or employee conduct at the host institution will result in an immediate termination of the internship and can lead to further disciplinary sanctions by SIT.

THE FINAL PAPER

The student will submit a 15-20 page paper consisting of the following sections:

- A title, abstract and acknowledgements;
- Learning goals and a justification of those goals;
- Description of the host institution, its history and how it advances sustainability and your focus project and the issues related to it;
- Description of tasks performed on the internship;
- The results of the focus project;
- Personal assessment of your internship performance and learning and how this will be applied upon return to the USA.

GUIDELINES FOR THE FINAL PAPER

The expectations for each section of the final paper are outlined below.

Learning goals and justification: A short justification briefly explaining why you chose to do an internship, why you chose your particular organization and the goals of your internship and why they are important in the context of sustainability.

Description of host institution and focus project: A minimum 1500 word background and history of the organization, the work it does and how it fits in the context of the semester in the Balkans and in particular issues of societies in transition, post-conflict transformation, peacebuilding and transitional justice.

Literature review: A short review of available relevant literature of research in the social science, if available, analyzing the work of the themes of the student’s internship [i.e. peacebuilding and/or dealing with the past etc.] and/or an analysis of the work of the particular organization where student is based.

Description of tasks performed: This should include a listing of the tasks you performed and the days and hours that you interned, the methods you used to gather data on your organization and any ethical considerations. This must be written in a first person active voice and make clear what you did as opposed to what others in your team did.
Output of the focus project: This will vary depending on the nature of the project. Expectations for this section of the report must be clarified with your SIT advisor well before you begin writing your paper.

Personal assessment of the experience: In the context of sustainability, detail what you learnt from your internship experience and how you intend to apply these new skills and knowledge when you return to the USA.

Academic and Ethical Integrity
The internship experience must reflect SIT’s ethics policy and commitment to the values of reciprocity. Students must respect, protect and promote the rights and the welfare of all those affected by their work by doing everything in their power to protect the dignity and privacy of the people with whom they work.

The student intern should also abide by the policy and regulations of the host institution including dress, punctuality, and employee behavior. Violations of SIT’s code of conduct or employee conduct at the host institution will result in an immediate termination of the internship and can lead to further disciplinary sanctions by SIT.

Students must not represent as their own work, either in speaking or writing, materials or ideas, directly taken from other sources. They must give full credit in speaking or writing to all those who have contributed to their work. Severe academic penalties apply for deliberate plagiarism or other academic dishonesty.

Evaluation and Grading Criteria
At the end of the internship period, students are expected to present their work to the group. Assessment of both written work and the oral presentation is based on quality, academic scholarship, and adherence to the highest ethical standards.

Description of Assignments
Progress Reports
The progress report should document the progress of the student’s professional and personal learning on the internship. Students document aspects of the challenges they face and how they try to deal with those challenges. Students submit three progress reports in the course of their internship experience.

Discussion and Reflection Sessions
Discussion and reflection sessions take place on a weekly basis. Students are expected to share their personal experience in the internship and reflect on the professional learning process. These discussion and reflection sessions are key elements in the process of the learning experience and the student’s professional achievements within the host organization.

Mentor Evaluation
This evaluation, submitted by the student’s mentor or supervisor at the host institution, assesses the student’s internship experience, overall professional achievements, and self-growth.

Oral Presentation
In the presentation, you should provide a succinct and clear description of the internship experience, a brief history of the organization where you interned, and the work undertaken. You should demonstrate effective management of the discussion with the audience and attend to the aesthetic elements of the delivery.

Photo Essay

1. Use camera to capture a specific aspect related to the topic of your final internship paper and to your research question:

2. Find a creative way to display and present visual images in your presentation. If you decide to capture and present the organization, its internal dynamics and working atmosphere, make sure to first secure the authorization from your supervisor and/or other members of staff. Privacy of all persons who may be captured on photographs

3. The purpose of the presentation is to demonstrate and share what you will have learned during your internship in the organization.

This is an opportunity for you to present more perspectives and information about your research topic, in a visual manner.
It can be in the format of a photograph – but you can also choose to edit a short video if you wish (and know how to) [both will be treated equally in terms of grades].

Your photo essay needs to be related to your internship placement, i.e. the place where you will have conducted your research, as well as to political and social aspects of your topic and your research question.

Also, your photo essay should capture cultural and/or political dynamics or issues related to your research. In addition to that, the photo essay can also reflect on your own experiences and explorations, again as related to your research (for example, it can relate to your field work and data collection/research methods).

Decide how to best capture and express your understanding of, and your opinion and feelings about the given issue, through photos. Though you are not expected to produce “professional” quality photos, you should think about what type of photos will best express your intended meaning.

You should, therefore, not wait until the very last moment to plan your presentation, but start thinking about it already as you are progressing with your internship and research.

NOTE: Your photo essay should consist of minimum 6 and maximum 10 photographs.

Final Paper

Students are expected to submit a final paper at the end of their internship experience. The final paper should include a title, list of acknowledgments [optional], and an abstract. The paper should also have an introduction which summarizes the mission, vision, and history of the organization and incorporates a number of references, detailed description of the internship responsibilities accomplished, and strong and innovative aspects of the organization. The paper should be well written, well organized, and aesthetically pleasing. A summary of the final paper assessment rubric will be shared with students in advance.
