Course Description
This intermediate level language course is designed to develop students' broader communicative skills in speaking, listening, reading and writing standard Chinese. With intensive drills and practice in real-life situations, students will gradually build up their communicative competency in Chinese. Moreover, the course will integrate Chinese culture to promote students' cross-cultural awareness and understanding. Due to the great differences in Mandarin and English, students will also be introduced strategies and skills in learning Chinese as a foreign language.

Classes and field-based language activities are taught by experienced, professionally trained, native-speaking teachers of Chinese as a foreign language using oral proficiency-based methods. Students are placed into this level of the language courses based on in-country ACTFL oral proficiency interviews. These placements may not directly correspond to the student's level at the home institution as SIT courses focus on communicative competence and linguistic functional ability.

Instruction consists of 30 hours of formal classes spread over a 3-week period. Various teaching methods are employed, including in-class discussions on Chinese and American subjects, recitations for aural comprehension, and intensive grammar exercises. This Chinese course emphasizes oral expression and listening comprehension, but also includes intermediate-level instruction in Chinese characters. Students are placed in small groups for language instruction and exercises. In addition, TCM-related vocabulary is emphasized. Five (5) additional hours of guided practice in Chinese are provided during the educational excursion period.

Learning Outcomes
At the end of this course, students will be expected to:
- Develop intermediate communication skills in Chinese language through intensive formal instruction and cultural involvement;
- Handle successfully most uncomplicated communicative tasks and social situations;
- Describe their own rooms, classrooms and the neighborhood;
- Describe hobbies, interests, and habits;
- Make an appointment by phone and ask friends to go out for activities (dinner, shopping and

Course Requirements
Reinforcement exercises, both oral and written, are assigned. On average, students are required to complete at least 1 hour of homework daily. Class attendance is also required; preparedness and participation are highly emphasized. Active engagement and meaningful involvement in class activities are expected. Students should complete their assignments individually in time and with full efforts. Late assignment will result in a lower grade.

Required Texts
The textbook used for this course is New Practical Chinese Reader 3 and 4, a Project of NOCFL of the People’s Republic of China (Liu Xun, Beijing Language and Culture University, 2008). The textbook focuses on exclusive use of Chinese script, introduction of idioms and comprehensively teaches grammatical structures with commonly used vocabulary by means of structural drills. Liu Xun’s communicative and structurally based approach is well suited to the needs of foreign students living in a Chinese-speaking environment wishing to acquire a solid foundation of Chinese grammar. In addition, computer software for practicing Chinese characters will be provided to students.
