Advanced Modern Standard Arabic
ARAB3003-3503 (3 credits)

Tunisia and Italy: Politics and Religious Integration in the Mediterranean

This syllabus is representative of a typical semester. Because courses develop and change over time to take advantage of unique learning opportunities, actual course content varies from semester to semester.

Course Description
This course is designed to develop student proficiency and communication in Modern Standard Arabic. While emphasis is placed primarily upon oral comprehension and conversational skills (i.e. listening and speaking), reading and writing are highlighted as crucial to the reinforcement of those skills. Thus, the course is designed not only to help students acquire Arabic, but also to grasp cultural practices in the Arab world. Cultural context is built into the course and introduced through audiovisual materials and experiential activities accompanying the textbook. Advanced Arabic provides students a more in-depth background in daily life issues, enabling them to master critical language skills necessary for performing everyday activities. The objective in this level is to review and expand on topics including:

- Traveling
- Relationships
- Ceremonies
- Services (especially public administration)
- Speaking about one’s career (personal achievements)
- Biography/autobiography
- Functions of speech
- Cultural and literary subjects

Advanced Arabic covers grammar and syntactic structures to teach students how to create correct sentences, enabling them to both discuss and write about various topics of study. The main focus, however, is on vocabulary related to themes of culture, literature, and authentic everyday situations. Students participate in field exercises and other activities to gain confidence in interacting with Tunisians and immersing in society. Students are responsible for finding new vocabulary words and expressions matching the assigned field exercises—by using dictionaries and additional texts including newspapers, magazines, and by conducting interviews.

Learning Outcomes
Upon completion of the course, students will have mastered the following verbal skills in Modern Standard Arabic:

- To tell a story and talk about the different topics discussed in class such as great explorers of the world like Marco Polo, Ibn Battuta, Vasco Da Gama, Christopher Columbus, compare and contrast their different experiences.
- Talk and write about special occasions, media and famous writers in the Arab World and in America to compare and contrast their experiences in Tunisia and home.
- To explain in detail what they are studying and their life in general in Tunisia and in the USA.
- To speak/write about themselves and about their daily routine and the different activities they do with friends and families.
- Talk about present and past habits,
- To speak about their ISP project with examples and more details
- To speak about the different lectures they had in class.
- To ask and understand questions in a simple interaction.
- To understand news, texts and newspaper headlines.
- To formulate basic requests to SIT staff and members of host families.
- To narrate events related to their lives in the host culture.
- To narrate the key events of a day and describe places visited during the educational excursions.
- To make a short presentation about a topic of their choice.

Tunisian Arabic

Immediately after arriving in Tunis and during the first week of orientation, students are offered a two-session introductory course on Tunisian Arabic (totaling fifteen hours) that ranges from basic vocabulary and sentence structure, to easy dialogues and interactive exercises. The objective of these sessions is to provide students with an elementary background and early familiarity with Tunisian Arabic in preparation for the homestay experience.

Language Levels and Placement

Non-beginning participants are placed into appropriate language course levels based on estimated-ACTFL oral proficiency interviews and written exams (placement tests) conducted during orientation in Tunisia.

Course Objectives

Advanced Arabic has an interdisciplinary and experiential focus. The main objectives of the course are to:

- Expand and strengthen proficiency in spoken Arabic;
- Further develop strong oral/written comprehension and writing skills;
- Use the language confidently and effectively in everyday situations and to address a broadening range of topics;
- Acquire insight into the role of Arabic within Tunisian life and culture.

Language of Instruction
Students are encouraged to use Arabic as much as possible in classroom discussions and assignment correction. Grammatical rules, however, are mostly explained in English.

Instructional Methods

SIT’s teaching and learning philosophy is grounded in the experiential learning theory developed by Kolb (1984; 2015) and informed by various scholars, such as Dewey, Piaget, Lewin, among others. Experiential learning theory recognizes that learning is an active process that is not confined to the formal curriculum; “knowledge is created through the transformation of experience” (Kolb, 2015, p. 49). Learning involves both content and process. Learning is holistic and happens through various life experiences upon which students draw to generate new ways of knowing and being. Learning involves a community and is a lifelong endeavor. Learning is transformational. The suggested four step-cycle of a concrete experience, reflective observation, abstract conceptualization, and active experimentation embedded in the experiential learning model is not linear and might not always happen in that specific order, as any learning is highly context dependent. These stages of taking part in a shared experience; reflecting on that experience by describing and interpreting it; challenging their own assumptions and beliefs to generate new knowledge; and ultimately applying new knowledge, awareness, skills, and attitudes in a variety of situations and contexts are important for students to engage in to become empowered lifelong learners.

Required Texts

Students are responsible for all the required readings and should be prepared to bring them to participate in discussions in class. The readings will help place the classes in their context, challenge and engage lecturers, generate questions for class discussions, and deepen one’s knowledge of particular aspects discussed in class.

Supplementary teaching materials include:
- Textbook designed by instructors for SIT students
- Audiovisual materials
- Magazines and newspapers

Several films are incorporated into the course. Films are shown in their original Arabic version and are followed by a class discussion in Arabic.

Course Schedule

Please be aware that topics and excursions may vary to take advantage of any emerging events, to accommodate changes in our lecturers’ availability, and to respect any changes that would affect student safety. Students will be notified if this occurs.

Additional Information
Homestays
As a complement to the language classes, homestays provide students with the opportunity to learn from different people and to use their language skills continually in a multilingual learning environment. Our goal is to help students develop the necessary communication tools which they can use with their host families, neighbors, and Tunisians on the street.

Field Exercises
Once a week, through field assignments, students enrich their classroom learning experience and their ability to function in real life language situations, assimilate everyday life issues, and immerse in the host culture. Field assignments are done both individually and in groups.

Field assignments may include visits to the following places:
- Souks: to practice bargaining skills and interact with community members
- Cafés and restaurants: to experience ordering drinks and food
- Museums and monuments: to learn about historical sites and handicrafts

Assignments and Evaluation

Assignment Descriptions and Grading Criteria

Individual assignments may include different tasks related to grammar and vocabulary exercises. Students are encouraged to read and write about various topics of their choice or assigned by the teacher and then share their ideas in class in-group discussions paying attention to (narration and description, tenses and vocabulary), and also writing about personal experiences and activities in Tunisia, lectures, and some current events.

Timely completion of all Arabic assignments is expected. All written homework must be turned in at the beginning of the class. Late hand-ins will be penalized. All assignments are evaluated according to organization, analytical quality, depth of understanding, argumentation, and presentation of evidence. Tests will not be repeated for absentees. Only certifiable and verifiable absences from tests will be accepted.

Regular attendance, active class participation, daily homework assignments, four tests, and a final examination are required for the successful completion of the course. An absent student is responsible for contacting the instructor, the tutor, and/or fellow students to be prepared for the assignments s/he missed and the ones scheduled for the next class.

Assessment

Regular Tests: 40%
Assignments: 30%
Final examination: 30%

Late Assignments

SIT Study Abroad programs integrate traditional classroom lectures and discussion with field-based experiences, site visits and debriefs. The curriculum is designed to build on itself and progress to the culmination (projects, ISP, case studies, internship, etc.). It is critical that students complete assignments in a timely manner to continue to benefit from the sequences in assignments, reflections and experiences throughout the program.
Example: Students may request a justified extension for one paper/assignment during the semester. Requests must be made in writing and at least 12 hours before the posted due date and time. If reason for request is accepted, an extension of up to one week may be granted at that time. Any further requests for extensions will not be granted. Students who fail to submit the assignment within the extension period will receive an ‘F’ for the assignment.

Program Expectations

Class Participation
Participation in class refers to attendance, punctuality, attentive listening, and active engagement in all Arabic language lectures, discussions, educational excursions, assignments, and other activities. It also means polite and respectful behavior. An absent student is responsible for contacting the instructor, the tutor, and/or fellow students to be prepared for the assignments s/he missed and the ones scheduled for the next class.

Student Expectations

- Show up prepared. Be on time, have your readings completed and points in mind for discussion or clarification. Complying with these elements raises the level of class discussion for everyone.
- Have assignments completed on schedule, printed, and done according to the specified requirements. This will help ensure that your assignments are returned in a timely manner.
- Ask questions in class. Engage the lecturer. These are often very busy professionals who are doing us an honor by coming to speak.
- Comply with academic integrity policies (no plagiarism or cheating, nothing unethical).
- Respect differences of opinion (classmates, lecturers, local constituents we engage with on site visits). You are not expected to agree with everything you hear, but you are expected to listen across difference and consider other perspectives with respect.
SIT Policies and Resources
